

NYU PSYCHOLOGY

and

Graduate School of Arts & Sciences

PREVIEW DAYS

APRIL 23-24, 2020

Considering a PhD in psychology? Visit New York University! This event will offer activities that are designed to introduce traditionally underrepresented individuals to our top-tier psychology program and to graduate education.

Expenses including travel, lodging, and meals, will be provided.

Meet Faculty from the Department of Psychology

Attend meet-and-greets with faculty conducting research in Social Psychology, Cognition and Perception, and Social and Cognitive Neuroscience.

Learn What Grad School is Really Like

Learn tips on applying to PhD programs and the graduate school experience from psychology graduate students.

See the Cutting Edge Research Being Conducted at NYU

See faculty and graduate students' work, and tour lab facilities.

Learn About NYU's Diversity and Inclusion Resources

The Graduate School of Arts & Sciences and the Psychology Department's Diversity and Inclusion Steering Committee will offer info on programming and resources on campus and in our department.

Explore Greenwich Village

Attend social events to explore the local neighborhood.

SEEKING APPLICANTS

Strong applicants will be current sophomores or juniors or those looking to begin graduate school no sooner than Fall of 2022 and who identify as a racial or ethnic minority traditionally underrepresented in psychological science and/or who identify as an individual who will enhance the diversity and inclusivity of psychological science. Such individuals include (but are not limited to): first-generation college students, individuals with disabilities, individuals with non-binary gender identities, individuals from economically disadvantaged backgrounds, LGBTQ individuals, etc.

APPLICATIONS DUE FEBRUARY 20, 2020

Click here to apply!